POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

POSITION OPENS: 6/30/09
POSITION CLOSES: 7/19/09
POSITION TITLE: CONTRACT ARCHAEOLOGIST
POSITION LOCATION: Portland, OR
IMMEDIATE SUPERVISOR: Cindy Griffin, Administrative Services Manager

SUMMARY OF POSITION: The incumbent serves as a Contract Archaeologist for CIBER, Incorporated. As a Contract Archaeologist, the incumbent functions as a cultural resource specialist, working with agency archaeologists and other contract archeologists along with project environmental leads for agency transmission operations and maintenance and new construction activities, as well as for the Fish and Wildlife Mitigation Program and its associated projects. The primary purpose of this position is to provide professional knowledge in the inventory, evaluation, protection, and management of prehistoric and historic resources, primarily through field work throughout the Pacific Northwest.

DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Works with the lead archaeologists for fish and wildlife mitigation projects and transmission services projects to prioritize workload and projects.
- Recommends the appropriate extent of cultural resource inventories needed for a wide variety of project proposals and conducts inventories, which may include conducting background research, field survey, and/or limited subsurface testing.
- Provides recommendations regarding the eligibility of cultural resources for the National Register of Historic Places.
- Participates as a team member in preparing NEPA documents, identifying special cultural resource considerations, and potential impacts to cultural resources.
- Advises on compliance with relevant statutes and their accompanying regulations including the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA), Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), the Archeological Resources Protection Act (ARPA), the American Indian Religious Freedom Act (AIRFA) and NEPA.

POSITION REQUIREMENTS:

- Must possess a Bachelor's degree in archeology, anthropology, or closely related field plus:
 1. At least one year of full-time experience conducting archaeological field work with only limited supervision;
 2. At least six months of supervised field and analytic experience in Columbia River Basin archeology;
 3. Demonstrated ability to generate reports of archaeological investigations in a timely fashion;
 4. Demonstrated experience with geographic information systems (GIS).
- Must be able to pass background security clearance.
- Must have valid drivers license.
